

Knock, Knock

The weeks have been zipping by and I hadn't realized how long it has been since I sat down at my computer to do some spiritual writing. Oh, I sit at my computer every day...working, doing e-mails, reading, checking social media, and occasionally shopping. My mind seems to be preoccupied with things other than getting my thoughts together to write.

This morning, for the first time in 9 months, I attended Sunday Services. It felt so good to be in the house of the Lord....singing, praising and listening to the word of God. Although my faith remained strong during my months of illness, my body was just too weak to go out. In being there, at church, it reminded me how important it is to not just hear the Word, but to share it with others.

The sermon this morning was taken from Romans chapter 8. The passages are familiar as I have read them many times. However, several of the verses really reached out and grabbed me, verses 16 to 18...

The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together. For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.

No matter what I have been through physically, chemo therapy and all of its effects on my mortal body, this suffering is not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.

What an awesome statement! The glory that will be revealed in us is the glory of Christ, as He sits at the right hand of the Father in heaven. Can you imagine, being a joint-heir with Christ? Experiencing the power of the Lord, in all His glory, in our very presence? Knowing that, no more will we suffer the things of this earth.

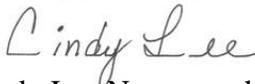

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. Revelation 21:4

Wow! That's about all I can say, WOW!

The spirit of the Lord, the Holy Spirit, dwells within each of us who have accepted Christ as our true Savior. Each of us are joint-heirs with Christ. Have you answered the call? Have you opened the door?

Knock, Knock	Knock, Knock	Knock, Knock
Who's there?	Who's there?	Who's there?
You are	Anyone	I am He
You are who?	Anyone who?	I am He, who?
You are who the Lord Loves	Anyone who receives Me, will have eternal life	I am He who offers salvation. Won't you let me in?

Wishing you many blessings,
