

The Great Reunion

Blessed are those who mourn, For they shall be comforted. Matthew 5:4

On February 14th, usually a day to celebrate love here on earth, my Uncle Johnny went to celebrate the love of Christ in heaven.

My comfort comes from knowing that he is not only in Glory, but that he is reunited with those who have gone before. Uncle Johnny was the last of his generation of my mother's bloodline. What a reunion it must have been. His parents, his brother and his sister, my mom, were all waiting for him.

While we were driving to West Virginia for the funeral, my thoughts were on that reunion. Words started coming into my head. I grabbed my cell phone and started "typing". It was as if Uncle Johnny was telling me what it was like for him when he arrived and entered through Heaven's Gate.

Today, I am sharing those words with you. Perhaps it will comfort you to know that your loved ones are reunited.

The Great Reunion

We are all reunited now, generations of my kin
Me, I just arrived last week. They all wondered where I'd been.

I told them I'd been looking out, for the ones they left behind.
But it's my turn to join them now, I was sure that they wouldn't mind

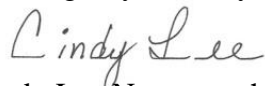

You see, I said, my time on earth was spent well through the years.
They all bid me fond farewells, even threw their tears.

So many memories they have, of me and all of you
I am sure they will be just fine; those memories will carry them through

They will all be here someday; we'll greet them one by one
For now, it will be just us, until their time is done.

May it comfort you to know, that even though we mourn the loss, we will all be reunited.

Blessing to you always,
